BILL TO CREATE AVIATION DEPT

Washington, April 23. (AP)—A bill to create a federal department of air is pointed today toward almost certain approval by the house military committee, over bitter protest of the navy and navy. At the same time it would strengthen the personnel and flying equipment of the air corps.

Excise Sales Tax Due While Suit Pends

Little Rock, April 23. No sales tax will be collected in Arkansas under the constitutionality of Act 233, which becomes effective May 1, is denied by the Arkansas supreme court. The test suit, appealed from Pulaski chancery court, will be submitted to the supreme court May 27.

Arthur R. Wiseman, commissioner of revenue, who was enjoined by Chancellor Dodge from collecting the two cent tax on the ground the Hall is in valid, was advised yesterday by the attorney general's office. The attorney general's office is of the opinion that the chancery court had jurisdiction to render an injunction, and the fact that its order may have been erroneously executed will not render the injunction but only voidable on proper application, and until set aside or reversed, it is entitled to implicit obedience.

It is equally clear that no attempt should be made by wholesalers or retailers to collect the tax from purchasers until the injunction is dissolved or the decree of the chancery court reversed by the Arkansas supreme court. The opinion of the further opinion that the tax before the injunction is void, or the decree of the chancery court reversed, will place you in a position of court. Assistant Attorney General Thomzhugh prepared the opinion.

CCC FORCES TO BE ENLARGED

Soil Erosion Work In Mid-West Planned

Washington, April 23. (AP) Endorsement by President Roosevelt of a tripling of the civilian conservation corps forces engaged in combatting dust breeding soil erosion Monday night placed a new cog in his $4,000,000 spending machine. Approval of the move followed indirect word from the president that before the week is out he will unfold the entire administrative set-up of his big work-relief program.

Retiring from his desk in the executive offices, Mr. Roosevelt spent virtually the entire afternoon immersed in reports, recommendations and factual data pertaining to the works plan. He is not expected, however, to throw the spending machine into high gear for a month or longer.

It was said at the white house, nevertheless, that plans for division of responsibility among a number of government agencies, with the president closely supervising, had been completed.

Prior to leaving his office, the president, at a conference with Robert Fechner, director of the civilian conservation corps, approved distribution of the 600,000 men who will make up the expanded civilian conservation corps.

The threat of a reputation of last year's drought, coupled with ravages of dust storms in the middle west, was said to be responsible for the decision to increase the number of men engaged in such activities from 42,000 to 115,000.

Fechner said activities of the 600,000 would be: 290,000 on national state and private forests, an increase of 110,000; 120,000 instead of the present 105,000 on national parks; 74,000 on flood and drainage control, and wild life conservation.

Land has been acquired for 1,216 additional camps and the war department is ready to begin immediate construction, he added.

Once an executive order transferring additional funds is issued, civilian conservation corps officials said, $40,000,000 to $45,000,000 a month will be spent in an effort to have enrollment increased from 370,000 to 600,000 on July 1, when the remainder of the program is to get under way.

More than 2,000 of the 2,916 civilian conservation corps camps will be supervised by the agriculture department, whose undersecretary, Rexford G. Tugwell, is to coordinate the land improvement phase of the 3,500,000 job program.

Other members of the advisory council which will assist the president in allocating projects are to be Harry L. Hopkins, the relief administrator, Secretary Ickes, Fechner, and probably Thomas H. McDonald, chief of the bureau of public roads, and Rear Admiral C. J. Peoples, treasury procurement officer who is to supervise purchases of materials. At the white house it was said the

DELAY ASKED IN TEST CASE

Gov't Prepares Answer In Gold Suit

Washington, April 23. (AP) The government has asked a 30-day delay in the Taft-liberty bond gold case in the United States court of claims. George Sweeney, assistant to the attorney general, described the move today as nothing out of the ordinary, indicating it was but to give more time for the government to prepare its answer.

Some observers said the delay might allow congress time to enact remedial legislation blocking suits of this type.

The Taft claim, which actually involves only $1.07 in any kind of money, could control millions of dollars in called liberty bonds and interest, government officials admit, in case the court ruled his bond coupon had to be paid in the amount of gold for which it called.

CHILD HEALTH DAY ON MAY 1

County-wide Celebration Planned

The county department of health in cooperation with the Faulkner county council of parents and teachers will participate in the twelfth national celebration of child health day May 1, according to Mrs. Myrtle Pearson, county health nurse.

The program will be county wide. The goal for this year's celebration is "no deaths from diphtheria" with the slogan, "immunize now, stamp out diphtheria."

The aims of the project are to immunize all children between six months and six years of age and to make early immunization a routine practice by physicians. This project was chosen because there has been but little reduction since 1930 in the number of deaths from diphtheria throughout the United States, Mrs. Pearson said.

Children enrolled in the schools of the county who attain the health standard as defined by the state board of health will receive their health buttons on child health day. There will be a county contest for health king and queen on the morning of May 1. Winners of school health king and queen contests will enter the county contest.

The coronation ceremony will be held on the afternoon of May 1 after which there will be a May pole dance given by training school pupils of the Arkansas Teachers College under the direction of Miss Zona Ellen Smith. Health playlets, songs and drills will be given by the school children of the county. Another feature of the day's program will be clinics for babies under one year of age. One dollar in cash will be given to the healthiest white baby and the same to the healthiest negro baby with honorable mention for second and third places.

A free motion picture on "The Conquest of Diphtheria" will be shown.

County chairmen for the celebration are: Baby clinic, Mrs. Marcus T. Smith; negro baby clinic, Florence Mattison, Dr. R. P. Cummings and Dr. J. S. Thompson; Parent-Teacher cooperation, Mrs. J. H. Pence, Mrs. E. M. Ingram and Mrs. Carl Moore; health examinations, Dr. H. C. Brooke, Dr. N. E. Fraser and Dr. S. S. Barlow, and finance, Mrs. R. M. Quenterous.
